

One customer need, one marketing function

Use something we heard today.

0:00-0:45

Choose one company or experience from today.

0:45-2:00

Name one customer need or benefit.

2:00-5:00

Match one marketing function to the company action.

Sentence frame: "The company uses _____ to _____ so the customer can _____."

You may speak, point, write keywords, or read the frame.

Use the word bank if you need it

Pick one function. Explain the action, not just the label.

1

Information management

use customer wants, needs, or feedback

2

Product/service management

improve the product or service

3

Pricing / promotion

set the price or influence the choice

4

Selling / channel management

help the customer buy at the right place

Partner prompt: "What would the company actually do?"

Teacher move: ask a leading question; do not supply the answer.

One idea we can use in review

SHARE

"Our company or experience is ____.

The customer needs ____.

The marketing concept is to satisfy that need and make money.

____ helps because the company can ____."

LISTEN FOR

A company or experience, a customer need, one function, and one business action.

CLOSE

"Keep that connection in mind as you finish the vocabulary test and review questions."

Timing rule: two or three shares, then stop at five minutes.
