

One customer need, one marketing function

Pick an entry point: a company, app, place, or experience from today.

0:00-0:45

Choose one company, app, place, or experience.

0:45-2:00

Name one customer need or want.

2:00-5:00

Choose one marketing function and one company action.

Sentence frame: "The company uses _____ to _____ so the customer can _____."

Response choices: whisper to a partner, point to a term, jot keywords, or share aloud.

Marketing function word bank

Read the term and its clue. Choose one term. Compare two if you are unsure.

1

Marketing information management

gather customer wants, needs, or feedback

2

Product/service management

design or improve the product or service

3

Pricing

set a price customers will pay

4

Promotion

send messages that influence purchases

Other terms you may use: selling = help a customer buy; channel management = make the product available.

Need a scaffold? Use the sentence frame, ask for a clue, or compare two terms.

One idea we can use in review

SHARE

"Our company or experience is ____.

The customer needs or wants ____.

The marketing concept is to satisfy that need or want and make money.

____ helps because the company can ____."

LISTEN FOR

Check your idea: company or experience, customer need or want, one function, and one business action.

CLOSE

Rehearse quietly first. Then choose to point, jot, partner-share, or share aloud.

Timing rule: two or three shares, then stop at five minutes. Everyone can show thinking in a different way.
